WORKING RETREATS

QVA organises working retreats for Friends and those in sympathy with Friends. They offer an opportunity to spend a few days with a group of like-minded people. The day is divided into retreat sessions and practical work sessions in the grounds. At Swarthmoor Hall (the founding place of Quakerism), in Cumbria, our twice yearly retreats are now an established part of the programme and are often over-subscribed.

- The group work, cook and eat together
- There is time for personal reflection as well as group retreat sessions.
- Accommodation is in single or shared rooms in Swarthmoor Hall
- The tasks vary to suit all abilities
